Annales and Althusser – Formalization
By Shomit Sirohi

I. What is Formalization – even Advanced Economics

Advanced economic is to follow the process of structuralism, which then is Marx's theory of value and even value-form, and finally the theory of surplus-value and this then is historical in Annales which describes a crisis as because of wage-repression and even forms of economics which do not follow formalization in Marx.

II. The Complex Method of Annales is then Complex Articulation which then is more complex, that simply economism – which means the critique of economism Economism is then only an economic theory – actually the process is – a) historical,)architectural, c)scientific d) ecological and e) financial cycles and e) following the process more strictly in fact.

If one observes an economic formalism then is also enough actually.

III. Annales in History – Topics and Lectures on Poincare

Poincare then is a daily life which is measured in each day – which means for instance –

A mode of production with complex formalisms and the process of then measuring – the process in Althusser, Badiou and Sirohi is about the formalism of economics then becoming complex which then is more-geometrico which is then a process of –

The process of complex forms of – scales of trade and scales of society which even has geography in it which then is a Mediterranean – which then becomes financial trading and cycles in fact which has in it, Existential operator which then organizes the mode of production as in fact more complex than just simple Existentialism – even the process of the exteriority more described then is finally how in fact mathematical the architectural debate in Brasillia is.
